Grenache - Chardonnay
France (STREEKWIJN/IGP) – 2022

Domain

Dom. Terres Noires

The vineyards of the 'Terres Noires' domain cover a total area of 280 hectares, yielding an average yield of 60 hectoliters per hectare. The vines are grown on a volcanic and peaty subsurface in the region of Agde, just a few kilometers from the Mediterranean Sea.

Vinification

The grapes are picked between 3 a.m. and 10 a.m. so that they do not get a chance to warm up. After a mechanical harvest in the night and early morning, the grapes are separated from leaves and twigs. The grapes are then cooled in temperature-controlled stainless steel tanks. After a gentle pressing of the grapes and débourage, the alcoholic fermentation of the juice takes place. To increase the balance and complexity of the wine, it ripens sur lie.

Taste

This wine has a light golden yellow color. Both in the nose and in the mouth we get aromas of green fruit and white, honey-sweet flowers. It is a semi-full wine with the Chardonnay providing some roundness and the Grenache for a spicy final.
