Spain (GALICIA) – 2025

Domain

Bodega Veiga Da Princesa

Tucked away in Arbo, Pontevedra, in Galicia's sun-kissed southwest, just above Portugal and 60 km south of Santiago de Compostela, lies a bodega with a story to tell.
When the first vines were planted here in 2002, the vision was clear: to create an Albariño that captures the warmth of the sun and the richness of the land. By seeking extraordinary and mature grapes, the wines would shine with vibrant fruit and a softer, more approachable acidity.
All wines are made exclusively from their own vineyards. In just two years, the winemakers acquired more than 200 small plots and united them into a single estate. From these 18 hectares of pure Albariño come wines that have earned the bodega a distinctive place within the prestigious D.O. Rías Baixas.
